

The Lexicons and Labyrinths art exhibition, curated by Fritha Langerman whose work entitled Model Making is shown here, was an invitation to prominent South African artists to explore the implications of the genome. The exhibition is currently on at the Iziko South African Museum in Cape Town. Winning works in a public art competition, What is Life?, are also on display until June 23 2003.