Art in public

LOCAL artists Fritha Langerman (left) and Katherine Bull with the detail of Come to Pass, their public artwork that has been unveiled in Cape Town. Langerman and Bull won the third leg of the Cape Town competition for public art. The artwork is located on the corner of St George and Shortmarket. The artwork uses a compass and clock as a means to focus on how we construct the past. Reference is made to six role-players (explorer, settler, merchant, minister, soldier and architect) from the colonial times, as well as women in different professions.
